No. 161

OCTOBER 2017

Dear Rev. Fathers / Sisters / Brothers / Lay Faithful,

1. MONTH OF OCTOBER

The month of October is dedicated to the Holy Rosary and every year we celebrate the feast of the Holy Rosary on 7th October. The devotion to the Holy rosary has been promoted by the Popes in order to rely on the powerful intercession of Mother Mary. All of us should remember that the Rosary prayer is dear to all the children of Mother Mary, and this prayer is considered a family prayer, wherein all the members of the family are gathered together for the recitation of the rosary. Those who recite the 5 decades of Rosary in the church, as a family at home, as a religious community, or as a pious fraternity, or in general whenever several persons have gathered together for a good purpose, a plenary indulgence is granted; and in other circumstances a partial indulgence.

The rosary should be recommended to the faithful and its nature and importance explained. St. Teresa of Kolkata, such a busy person always at the service of the sick and abandoned, would fix a rosary to her clothes so that she could recite several rosaries throughout her work and travel. This has been in the life of saints and our recent Popes. Let us then begin this in our life and in the parish and community where we live. Hence we have every reason to foster and promote this family rosary in our parishes.

I request you, dear Fathers, to continue the devotion of praying the Rosary during this month of October by encouraging your parishioners to pray it daily in their respective homes, before the celebration of the daily Eucharist in our churches and chapels and, wherever there is the custom, before the Grotto of Our Lady.

2. ROSARY FOR PEACE

Each year on 18th October, the pontifical foundation Aid to the Church in Need invites us to join in the wonderful prayer initiative: "A Million Children Praying t he Rosary." This idea, began in Caracas, Venezuela was aimed at children to introduce them to praying the Rosary and to ask them to pray particularly for personal peace and family peace, as well as unity and peace throughout the world. St. Pio of Pietrelcina (Padre Pio) once said, "when a million children pray the Rosary, the world will change." We all long today – not only in those places torn by war, but everywhere, on every continent – to see the world become a better place! The situation in our own country also calls us to pray for peace. Hence, I invite you all of you to inform about this initiative to your parish children and invite them to pray the Holy Rosary on 18th October for the peace in the world.

3. FAITH FORMATION CAMPS

As in the past, during October holidays, our Catholic children need to be invited to participate in the Faith Formation camps that take place at the deanery levels. As you know, mere Catechism classes on Sundays are not sufficient to catechize our children on the tenets of our faith and teachings of the Church, but a strong foundation at childhood on the right understanding of faith and its expression will definitely help them to carry out the mission of the Church when they grow into youth and adults and, of course, it would definitely strengthen their family life. I hope the planning these camps have been already started in every deanery. For further guidance and assistance, please contact: Secretaries of the Archdiocesan Commissions for Catechetics and Bible, Youth and Family. I request all Parish Priests to do everything within their capacity to make every child attend the camp without fail.

4. MISSION SUNDAY

The Mission Sunday will be celebrated on 22nd October this year and the Theme chosen is: Mission at the heart of the Christian faith.

The Mission Sunday reminds all Catholics to commit themselves to building a better world for all God's people, a world where everyone has all they need to live a dignified and fulfilling life. It is the day on which we reflect on the urgency of proclaiming the Gospel in our times. Missionary activity is a response to the love with which God loves us. It is God, who is Love, who leads the Church towards those who are yet to know more about his merciful and compassionate love. Besides the prayers and sacrifices, as every year, let us come forward to offer our financial assistance meant exclusively for missionary activities.

I am truly aware of the great interest and enthusiasm all of you are taking to celebrate the Mission Sunday meaningfully and successfully. Last year, our Archdiocesan contribution to the missions was: Rs. 21973752.00/. We secured 2nd place out of 170 Dioceses in India in collecting funds for the missions. Kindly make this announcement in the parishes and the institutions, and congratulate and thank our people on my behalf. I thank you for this honour and achievement. Please invite the members of the religious communities, heads of the institutions and your parishioners to be generous towards the cause of the missions through their precious prayers, sacrifices and contributions. Hence, I request you to give proper orientation to create zeal for missions among the people, to design a well-planned strategy and the use of different methods to generate more funds for the missions.

While I thank you all for this honour and achievement, I urge you to motivate your parishioners to be generous towards the cause of the missions through their prayers, sacrifices and contributions. As mentioned in the ORDO, the Mass on the day may be offered “For the Evangelization of Peoples” as indicated in the Roman Missal. (Please see Annexure-1 for Mission Sunday Message of our Holy Father, Pope Francis).

The Mission Sunday materials, like Posters, Envelopes and Calendars are ready for dispatch. Kindly have them collected from Pastoral Centre. Please contact Rev. Fr. Martin Kumar, Financial Administrator at Archbishop's House.

5. FAMILIARITY WITH JESUS SETS US FREE. “TALK TO HIM ALSO WHEN ON THE BUS”

The Pope in Santa Marta: for Jesus, family are “Those who hear the Word of God and act on it”. You can find the Lord “everywhere, even among the pots and pans in the kitchen” For Jesus, the family are “Those who hear the Word of God and act on it”. Therefore, it is a larger nucleus than the one in which one is born. “Familiarity, is speaking to him even when you are on the bus, sets you free. Pope Francis affirms in this morning Mass, 26th September, 2017, at Casa Santa Marta.

The Pontiff – Vatican Radio reports – comments on today’s Gospel of Luke, in which Jesus says that it is precisely those who come to Him, and listen to His preaching, who are His “mother,” and His “brothers”: His family. And this, Francis notes, makes us think of the concept of familiarity with God and with Jesus, which is something more than being “disciples” or even “friends”; it is not a “formal” or “polite” attitude, much less a “diplomatic” one. So, he asked, “what does this word – familiarity – which the spiritual fathers of the Church have used so often, and have taught us, actually mean?”

It means to “entering into the home of Jesus, to enter into that atmosphere, to live in that atmosphere that is in the home of Jesus. To live there, to contemplate, to be free. Because the children are free, those who reside in the house of the Lord are free, those who have a familiar relationship with Him are free. Others, to use a word from the Bible, are the children of the ‘slave woman.’ We might say that they are Christians, but they don’t dare to draw near to Him, they don’t dare have this familiarity with the Lord. There is always a distance that separates them from the Lord.”

But familiarity with Jesus, as the great Saints teach us, also means “standing with Him, looking to Him, hearing His Word, seeking to do it, speaking with Him.”

We speak to him in prayer, Pope Francis emphasized, and we can pray even in common language: “But Lord, what do you think?” “This is familiarity, isn’t it?” the Pope said. “Always! The saints had it. Saint Teresa is beautiful, because she said she found God everywhere, even among the pans in the kitchen.” Familiarity is also “remaining” in the presence of Christ as He Himself advises at the Last Supper.

And this, the Pope repeated once again, is the attitude of familiarity; which is so different from the “goodness” of those Christians who nonetheless keep themselves at a distance from Jesus, saying, “You stay over there, and I’ll stay here.” And so, Pope Francis exhorts, “let us take a step forward in this attitude of familiarity with the Lord. A Christian, with all his problems, who gets on the bus, or on the subway, and speaks internally with the Lord – or at least knows that the Lord is watching him – is close to Him: this is familiarity, closeness, feeling oneself a part of the family of Jesus. Let us ask for this grace for all of us, to understand the meaning of familiarity with the Lord. May the Lord grant us this grace.”

6. “MANY OF THE PEOPLE WHO ARE AFRAID OF MIGRANTS HAVE NEVER EVEN MET A MIGRANT”

Pope Francis launches global Caritas campaign to welcome refugees and His Holiness launched a two-year campaign led by the Catholic church’s global confederation of social service agencies to encourage better understanding of the plight facing the world’s record numbers of migrants and refugees. He called on Catholics to welcome those coming to their countries with “arms wide open.”

Dedicating his entire general audience on 27th September, in St. Peter’s Square to Caritas Internationalis, the Pope said Jesus asks Christians to welcome migrants with arms that are open and ready to give an “affectionate and embracing hug” to people escaping war and violent conflict.

In a reflection on the value of hope, Pope Francis said hope is “the push in the heart” of both the migrant who leaves his or her homeland in search of a better life and the person who welcomes them and wants to “encounter them, to know them, to dialogue together.”

“Hope is the desire to share the journey of life, as the Caritas campaign that we inaugurate today reminds us,” he said. “Brothers and Sisters, do not be afraid to share the journey! Do not be afraid to share hope!”.

“Share the Journey” is a two-year effort Caritas is organizing to strengthen relationships between migrants, refugees, and the communities in which they find themselves. The charity confederation is hoping the campaign, supported by its 165 allied Catholic development, relief, and social service agencies worldwide, will bring about a change of mentality about migrants.

"Many of the people who are afraid of migrants have never even met a migrant," said Tagle. "You will see they are like you and me; they are not [the] other." The Cardinal said he was reminded of his grandfather, who emigrated from China to the Philippines.

"Who would have thought he would produce a cardinal grandson?" asked Tagle, adding that he would tell politicians: "Don't close the doors, you might be closing the doors to people who will enrich your society." Bekele Moges, the Executive Director of Caritas Ethiopia, described the situation facing migrants in North Africa. "Some are dying, and some are really struggling to survive. They are not moving for the purpose of moving. We move because there is something forcing us to move. We need the world to protect us on our way," said Moges.

In his reflection on hope in the general audience, Pope Francis cited the 19th century French poet Charles Péguy, who saw hope as one of the most remarkable things in the world and marveled in one of his poems about poor children who "see how things are going and believe they will go better tomorrow. "Hope is not a virtue for people who have full stomachs. That's why the poor are always the first carriers of hope. To come into the world, God needed them: needed Joseph and Mary, needed the shepherds of Bethlehem" said Pope Francis.

ANNEXURE 1

MESSAGE OF POPE FRANCIS FOR WORLD MISSION DAY 2017

Theme: Mission at the heart of the Christian faith

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Once again this year, World Mission Day gathers us around the person of Jesus, “the very first and greatest evangelizer” (Paul VI, Evangelii Nuntiandi, 7), who continually sends us forth to proclaim the Gospel of the love of God the Father in the power of the Holy Spirit. This Day invites us to reflect anew on the mission at the heart of the Christian faith. The Church is missionary by nature; otherwise, she would no longer be the Church of Christ, but one group among many others that soon end up serving their purpose and passing away. So it is important to ask ourselves certain questions about our Christian identity and our responsibility as believers in a world marked by confusion, disappointment and frustration, and torn by numerous fratricidal wars that unjustly target the innocent. What is the basis of our mission? What is the heart of our mission? What are the essential approaches we need to take in carrying out our mission?

Mission and the transformative power of the Gospel of Christ, the Way, the Truth and the Life

1. The Church’s mission, directed to all men and women of good will, is based on the transformative power of the Gospel. The Gospel is Good News filled with contagious joy, for it contains and offers new life: the life of the Risen Christ who, by bestowing his life-giving Spirit, becomes for us the Way, the Truth and the Life (cf. Jn 14:6). He is the Way who invites us to follow him with confidence and courage. In following Jesus as our Way, we experience Truth and receive his Life, which is fullness of communion with God the Father in the power of the Holy Spirit. That life sets us free from every kind of selfishness, and is a source of creativity in love.

2. God the Father desires this existential transformation of his sons and daughters, a transformation that finds expression in worship in spirit and truth (cf. Jn 4:23-24), through a life guided by the Holy Spirit in imitation of Jesus the Son to the glory of God the Father. “The glory of God is the living man” (Irenaeus, Adversus Haereses IV, 20, 7). The preaching of the Gospel thus becomes a vital and effective word that accomplishes what it proclaims (cf. Is 55:10-11): Jesus Christ, who constantly takes flesh in every human situation (cf. Jn 1:14).

Mission and the kairos of Christ

3. The Church’s mission, then, is not to spread a religious ideology, much less to propose a lofty ethical teaching. Many movements throughout the world inspire high ideals or ways to live a meaningful life. Through the mission of the Church, Jesus Christ himself continues to evangelize and act; her mission thus makes present in history the kairos, the favourable time of salvation. Through the proclamation of the Gospel, the risen Jesus becomes our contemporary, so that those who welcome him with faith and love can experience the transforming power of his Spirit, who makes humanity and creation fruitful, even as the rain does with the earth. “His resurrection is not an event of the past; it contains a vital power which has permeated this world. Where all seems to be dead, signs of the resurrection suddenly spring up. It is an irresistible force” (Evangelii Gaudium, 276).

4. Let us never forget that “being Christian is not the result of an ethical choice or a lofty idea, but the encounter with an event, a Person, which gives life a new horizon and a decisive direction” (Benedict XVI, Deus Caritas Est, 1). The Gospel is a Person who continually offers himself and constantly invites those who receive him with humble and religious faith to share his life by an effective participation in the paschal mystery of his death and resurrection. Through Baptism, the Gospel becomes a source of new life, freed of the dominion of sin, enlightened and transformed by the Holy Spirit. Through Confirmation, it becomes a fortifying anointing that, through the same Spirit, points out new ways and strategies for witness and accompaniment. Through the Eucharist, it becomes food for new life, a “medicine of immortality” (Ignatius of Antioch, Ad Ephesios, 20, 2).

5. The world vitally needs the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Through the Church, Christ continues his mission as the Good Samaritan, caring for the bleeding wounds of humanity, and as Good Shepherd, constantly seeking out those who wander along winding paths that lead nowhere. Thank God, many significant experiences continue to testify to the transformative power of the Gospel. I think of the gesture of the Dinka student who, at the cost of his own life, protected a student from the enemy Nuer tribe who was about to be killed. I think of that Eucharistic celebration in Kitgum, in northern Uganda, where, after brutal massacres by a rebel group, a missionary made the people repeat the words of Jesus on the cross: “My God, My God, why have you abandoned me?” as an expression of the desperate cry of the brothers and sisters of the crucified Lord. For the people, that celebration was an immense source of consolation and courage. We can think too of countless testimonies to how the Gospel helps to overcome narrowness, conflict, racism, tribalism, and to promote everywhere, and among all, reconciliation, fraternity, and sharing.

Mission inspires a spirituality of constant exodus, pilgrimage, and exile

6. The Church’s mission is enlivened by a spirituality of constant exodus. We are challenged “to go forth from our own comfort zone in order to reach all the peripheries in need of the light of the Gospel” (Evangelii Gaudium, 20). The Church’s mission impels us to undertake a constant pilgrimage across the various deserts of life, through the different experiences of hunger and thirst for truth and justice. The Church’s mission inspires a sense of constant exile, to make us aware, in our thirst for the infinite, that we are exiles journeying towards our final home, poised between the “already” and “not yet” of the Kingdom of Heaven.

7. Mission reminds the Church that she is not an end unto herself, but a humble instrument and mediation of the Kingdom. A self-referential Church, one content with earthly success, is not the Church of Christ, his crucified and glorious Body. That is why we should prefer “a Church which is bruised, hurting and dirty because it has been out on the streets, rather than a Church which is unhealthy from being confined and from clinging to its own security” (ibid., 49).

Young people, the hope of mission

8. Young people are the hope of mission. The person of Jesus Christ and the Good News he proclaimed continue to attract many young people. They seek ways to put themselves with courage and enthusiasm at the service of humanity. “There are many young people who offer their solidarity in the face of the evils of the world and engage in various forms of militancy and volunteering... How beautiful it is to see that young people are ‘street preachers’, joyfully bringing Jesus to every street, every town square and every corner of the earth!” (ibid., 106). The next Ordinary General Assembly of the Synod of Bishops, to be held in 2018 on the theme Young People, the Faith and Vocational Discernment, represents a providential opportunity to involve young people in the shared missionary responsibility that needs their rich imagination and creativity.

The service of the Pontifical Mission Societies

9. The Pontifical Mission Societies are a precious means of awakening in every Christian community a desire to reach beyond its own confines and security in order to proclaim the Gospel to all. In them, thanks to a profound missionary spirituality, nurtured daily, and a constant commitment to raising missionary awareness and enthusiasm, young people, adults, families, priests, bishops and men and women religious work to develop a missionary heart in everyone. World Mission Day, promoted by the Society of the Propagation of the Faith, is a good opportunity for enabling the missionary heart of Christian communities to join in prayer, testimony of life and communion of goods, in responding to the vast and pressing needs of evangelization.

Carrying out our mission with Mary, Mother of Evangelization

10. Dear brothers and sisters, in carrying out our mission, let us draw inspiration from Mary, Mother of Evangelization. Moved by the Spirit, she welcomed the Word of life in the depths of her humble faith. May the Virgin Mother help us to say our own “yes”, conscious of the urgent need to make the Good News of Jesus resound in our time. May she obtain for us renewed zeal in bringing to everyone the Good News of the life that is victorious over death. May she intercede for us so that we can acquire the holy audacity needed to discover new ways to bring the gift of salvation to every man and woman.
